Our City comment & discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

Glendale is Holding Her Own With Much Larger Cities in Building Growth

A COMPARISON of the building activity in California cities brings out information of interest to Glendale.

While the permits total for September was not as large as that for the preceding month, other cities in the same class with Glendale as to building activity also dropped off.

Glendale, according to the following table for California, stood ninth.

September Building Permits
Los Angeles	$14,099,353
San Francisco	2,907,353
Oakland	2,147,296
Long Beach	1,405,462
Alhambra	1,307,190
San Diego	1,306,260
Pasadena	1,061,338
Berkeley	765,160
Glendale	660,244

THIS table shows Alhambra as having over one million dollars in permits for the month. To a person not familiar with the reason for this, one would come to the conclusion that Alhambra was growing faster than Glendale.

We have no desire to depreciate Alhambra's growth, but the large total for September was accounted for in a great measure by one permit, which amounted to $800,000, which was for a storage depot for the Southern California Edison company.

The best part of our city's growth is its steadiness. A table covering the building for nine months of 1923, places Glendale as the eighth city of California.

PERUSEL of this table gives reason for pride, for it shows Glendale placed among cities many times her size and some cities of more than one hundred thousand below her.

Building permits for the first nine months of 1923:
Los Angeles	$145,312,073
San Francisco	34,089,998
Oakland	19,949,333
Long Beach	18,176,053
Pasadena	8,251,869
Sacramento	8,178,580
San Diego	7,728,597
Glendale	7,312,871
Berkeley	5,401,079

This month gives promise of keeping up with the record of past months as many large buildings are under consideration.

ACCORDING to an Associated Press dispatch the Los Angeles city attorney has been instructed to add to the contract which permits Glendale to construct a sewer in the city of Los Angeles a provision permitting territory annexed later to be served by this sewer.

According to a copy of the present contract this point is covered in paragraph 5 which reads as follows:

"It is mutually understood and agreed by and between the parties hereto that said party of the first part (meaning the city of Los Angeles) shall have the right to make all connections to said sewer, so to be constructed hereunder, and discharge all sewage into said sewer from any and all territory within the present boundaries of said city of Los Angeles or from any and all territory which may hereafter be annexed to or consolidated with said city of Los Angeles, which territory is so located as to be properly or necessarily tributary to said sewer."

As far as we can see this paragraph fully covers the point in question.

WHILE on the sewer problem it might be well to correct an impression that seems to be going around. Some people are of the opinion that the city of Los Angeles is to build our sewer. According to the contract this is not true. The contract specifically states that the city of Glendale will procure all the necessary right-of-way and will lay and construct a sanitary sewer varying from 42 inches to 54 inches in diameter.

HOWEVER, the construction shall be under the supervision and in accordance with designs, plans and specifications of the Board of Public Works of the city of Los Angeles. This provision is eminently fair and will prove as beneficial to us as to Los Angeles.

We hope the Los Angeles officials will see their way clear to sign the contract without any more delay. There is considerable work to be done at this end before actual construction work can start, and the sooner we start the sooner our sewer will be built. Hesitation might mean as much harm to Los

EDDYVILLE WAR ENDED BY CONVICTS DEATH

Credit Association Warns of Short Changers, Bad Check Artists

EDDYVILLE 'WAR' ENDS IN DEATH OF CONVICTS

Two Left Messages, One to Wife, Other to Besiegers

[By Associated Press] EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—Prison life was practically restored to normal following the burial in the penitentiary cemetery here yesterday of Monte Walters and Harry Ferland, convicts who met death in a barricaded dining hall after fatally wounding three guards in an attempt to shoot their way out of the prison. Two pine boxes containing their bodies were hauled one at a time on a prison wagon by a team of mules to Vinegar Hill and interred without services. The body of Lawrence Griffith was sent to his former home at Dresden, Tenn.

In commenting upon the fact that prison guards and Kentucky guardsmen reported having seen movements within the barricaded building during the three and a half days' siege period, which it is now certain only dead men were holding, officials said this was probably due to movements of coats and aprons of prison dining room attendants which hung at various places on the walls inside the gunmen's covert. These, when fanned by the winds that entered through the bullet-shattered windows took the appearance of fleeting convict forms. Before they died, the convicts left hastily scrawled death messages. One from Griffith read: "Defiants (defiance) from the dead."

One from Walters to his wife said: "Love to you, beloved."

MARION, OHIO, FORMS HARDING MEMORIAL ASS'N

Incorporation Papers Are Filed at Columbus, Today

[By Associated Press] COLUMBUS, OHIO, Oct. 8.—Papers incorporating the President Harding memorial association were filed with the secretary of state today by French Crow, Marion, Ohio, postmaster.

According to this document, the association proposes to erect a mausoleum at Marion in memory of the late president, Warren G. Harding. The body of the late president will be placed in the mausoleum and space will be reserved for the body of his widow, Florence Kling Harding.

The document names President Coolidge and his entire cabinet and a body of Marion citizens as co-incorporators.

In addition to the memorial mausoleum the association plans to take over the famous Harding "front porch" home on Mount Vernon avenue for the purpose of converting it into a national shrine.

Angeles as to Glendale, for we have always thought that from a sanitary viewpoint Los Angeles shared our worry.

OKLAHOMA IS 'CALMING DOWN' AFTER STORMS

[By Associated Press] OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 8.—Preparations for the test of strength between the members of the state legislature and Governor J. C. Walton which will follow the convening of a special session of the legislature Thursday, moved forward today with a calmness that was in marked contrast to the stormy days through which the state has recently passed.

The session summoned Saturday by Governor Walton, two days after a call had been issued by a majority of the members of the house for an impeachment session on October 17, threw down the bars and opened completely the way for the impeachment fight.

Neither side has made any effort to hide the fact that they are girding themselves for a royal battle. However, the fight will be wholly parliamentary.

WRECK INQUIRY AT SAN DIEGO NEARS END

Counsel for Defendants Taking Testimony to Aid Clients

[By Associated Press] SAN DIEGO, Oct. 8.—More specific information as to what was the cause of the disaster in the rear-most division of destroyer squadron eleven just before the vessels of the leading division crashed into the rocks off Honda, Cal., September 8, was demanded by counsel for three naval officer defendants when the court of inquiry investigating the disaster resumed its sessions here today.

Four vessels of division 32 which was the last of three divisions in column as the eleventh squadron made its disastrous slide in the rear-most division of destroyer squadron eleven just before the vessels of the leading division crashed into the rocks off Honda, Cal., September 8, was demanded by counsel for three naval officer defendants when the court of inquiry investigating the disaster resumed its sessions here today.

In asking for more specific information as to just what circumstances enabled the 32nd division to escape the fate of the others ahead, Commander H. N. Jensen, counsel for three defendants who lost their ships, explained that he thought the navigators of the 32nd had "information which my clients have a right to know."

Lieutenant Commander Leslie Bratton, judge advocate of the court of inquiry and himself commander of one of the four ships of the 32nd division, replied that he had not planned to call the navigators of these vessels to the stand, but that it could be done if counsel indicated.

Meanwhile several witnesses from the U. S. S. Chauncey, one of the wrecked destroyers, were sworn and testified concerning the grounding of their ships and the rescue of its crew.

Los Angeles Auto Death Toll Climbing

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Two dead and four injured was the toll taken in this district over the weekend by automobile traffic.

The dead are Ralph Miller, 12, of Culver City, and George Brenner, 60, an Ohio tourist. Both were struck by speeding motorists who did not stop.

Oscar Hagberg, 60, received a fractured skull when struck by an automobile driven by Charles Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clayton were injured when their car was struck by a machine driven by Oran H. Bunt, of Long Beach. Bunt was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

JOHN HYDE BRALY CALLED TO LIFE ETERNAL

Sturdy Pioneer, Upright Christian Gentleman, Is No More

This afternoon funeral services are being held over the mortal remains of John Hyde Braly, one of the last and most perfect specimens of the old school gentleman, whose interest in world affairs and the welfare of humanity was active to the hour of his death, though he lived to the ripe age of 89 years. He was the best type of California pioneer and his like will not be seen again.

As a boy he knew the simple life in a home of poverty. With his parents he braved the dangers of a trek across the plains when a boy of 12 and early learned self reliance, advanced by his own ambition. His schooling he earned as a precious heritage to others during the period in which he taught and served as superintendent of schools of Santa Clara county.

But he was essentially a business man, ever alert to the needs and opportunities of a rapidly developing country and his change to the business of banking was a natural evolution. With his removal to Southern California, where he founded the Southern California Savings bank, he became identified with interests here but his heart always remained more or less with his childhood home in the north where his parents lie, and his wish to be buried beside them will be honored.

His successful business life by no means absorbed him, however, nor was it his chief interest. Always he was looking for great enterprises or causes which he could help along and his purse was ever open to such calls. He was known as "the father of woman's suffrage" in this state and without the assistance he rendered in financing the educational campaign and his personal influence it might have failed. He was also one of the staunchest supporters of the prohibition campaign, and besides this welfare work kept abreast of all projects for material development of the Southwest, being especially interested in the Boulder Dam project of forever controlling the Colorado river's flow, by which seven states would profit.

He was likewise a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and felt a just pride in his honorable ancestry. He shared the interest of his wife, Mrs. Mary Grady Braly, in the General Richard Gridley chapter of Daughters of the Revolution which she founded and of which she remained the regent up to the day of her death. Always, when able, Mr. Braly attended the meetings of the chapter, which feels a keen sense of loss in his death.

He leaves sons who are good men to carry forward constructive work in the upbuilding of the country but they are of another generation in which altruistic aims are less pronounced. John Hyde Braly, pioneer, philanthropist, old school gentleman, is no more.

LEGION BASKET BALL TEAM TO REORGANIZE

This evening at 7:30 in the high school gymnasium the American Legion basketball team will be reorganized for the coming season. Last year the local post took second place in the Southern California Legion league. Most of the old players are expected to be back and all Legion men who play the game are asked to be out. The league will open about December 1, but the locals are starting practice early so that they will be in shape when the opening whistle blows.

TRAFFIC JAM AT LOS FELIZ BRIDGE

Automobile traffic between Hollywood and Glendale was held for a considerable time Sunday afternoon at the bridge that crosses the Los Angeles river at Los Feliz road. A car became disabled on the bridge in such a manner as to make it impossible for other machines to pass.

The matter was reported to the Glendale police department, which informed the Lincoln Heights station, from which officers were sent to relieve the congestion.

PUBLIC WARNED AGAINST OFFER OF PROTECTION

Autoists Are Fleeced by Sellers of Alleged Immunity

Many compliments regarding the methods used by the solicitors of the International Bureau of Traffic Police have reached the offices of the traffic commission of the city and county of Los Angeles. These solicitors, who are canvassing the country towns around Los Angeles, have inferred that the purchase of a $2 membership in the International Bureau of Traffic Police would give the purchaser special consideration by the police department of Los Angeles. Just how this consideration would come about was not explained. This organization has no plan to offer for the relief of traffic in Los Angeles and vicinity. It seems to be interested only in selling $2 memberships and can offer nothing of value to any motorist.

Chief of Police Vollmer of Los Angeles, in an interview with representatives of the traffic commission, stated as follows:

"You may say for me that if the International Bureau of Traffic Police is using my name in connection with its solicitation of memberships from the motoring public or in any connection, it is doing so without my authority. You may also say that anyone who purchases a membership in this organization, relying upon a representation that membership in it will entitle him to any greater consideration from the police department of Los Angeles than would be accorded any other citizen by the police, is relying on false pretenses. Everyone with whom the Los Angeles police department comes in contact is entitled to and will, I hope, be treated with the utmost courtesy, but neither membership in this organization or any other will entitle them to any special privileges or immunities."

Chief Vollmer's attention was also called to the fact that he was mentioned as a member of the executive committee of this organization, and he again stated he had not authorized the use of his name in any manner.

This organization has no connection with any local organization. It issues a magazine which on the outside cover says it is the official organ of the International Traffic Officers association, which is defunct, but on the inside states it is the official organ of the International Bureau of Traffic Police.

There should be no confusion in the minds of the public regarding the traffic commission of the city and county of Los Angeles as it is a local non-governmental civic organization composed of representative business men from all lines of the city's activities. It is undertaking a program to relieve the traffic situation of Los Angeles. Its officers are all prominent business men as follows: President, Paul G. Hoffman, Paul G. Hoffman company; first vice-president, W. H. Pierce, Pierce Bros. & Co. funeral directors; second vice-president, George A. Brook, Brook & Co., jewelers; treasurer, I. Hays Rice, president, Merchants & Manufacturers association. It has offices at 217 Wright & Callender building, Los Angeles, where any one interested in the traffic situation is welcome at any time.

MOTOR DRIVEN SLEDGES TO HAUL ALASKA FREIGHT?

PORTLAND, Ore., October 8 (United Press).—The latest wrinkle in speed travel over the snow fields of Alaska—a scheme which will make the 900-mile journey from Fairbanks to Nome and return a 10-days' excursion, instead of the present long journey—is hidden away in the mind of Robert Edmonds, a man from out of the north.

All that is needed to loosen this revolutionary idea upon the world is assurance that someone with sufficient capital will back him, and Edmonds will build the carrier which will assure the company controlling it a fortune in freight hauls.

The plan includes a motor-driven sled, forced, along something like an airplane is propelled, by a spinning propeller and the like, Edmonds explained here.

FALSE SHOUTS OF "EARTHQUAKE" STIR LONDONERS

[By Associated Press] LONDON, Oct. 8.—Shouts of "earthquake, earthquake," in a crowded street market in the east end yesterday caused a stampede in which a number of persons were trampled, hundreds of caged animals destroyed, and miscellaneous property ruined or stolen.

The scene of the disaster was the narrow Solater street, Bethnal Green, a noted center for the sale of animals for domestic pets.

Local traders say that an auction was in progress in the open street when a band of toughs rushed into a throng of marketeers and spectators and yelled "earthquake."

The crowd fled screaming while the stalls were overturned. The caged birds and animals and other property that fell in the path of the mob suffered severely. Many of the creatures being trampled to death and many of the persons falling among them to be trampled themselves.

The Daily Mail says sixty persons were injured, 2,000 small caged birds were either killed or escaped, and one hundred dogs and cats and scores of other animals were killed.

CONCRETE BRIDGE LOCATION CAUSES SOME CONFLICT

Hollywood Wants It at Los Feliz, Glendale at Ivanhoe

A question has arisen as to just where the concrete bridge over the Los Angeles river to serve Glendale will be constructed.

The Los Angeles county supervisors have stated, it is understood, that they have only enough money to construct one bridge over the river between Glendale and Los Angeles.

A Hollywood organization, it is understood, is endeavoring to have the Los Angeles bridge torn out and a new concrete structure erected.

Several other Hollywood organizations, Glendale city, Santa Monica and Burbank, it is also understood, are in favor of having the proposed viaduct built at Ivanhoe, which, it is understood, will connect Glendale and this section of the valley with Hollywood and West Los Angeles via the Hyperion boulevard.

The Hollywood organization that is favoring the Los Feliz bridge, according to reports, will present a resolution Wednesday night to the county supervisors, asking them to build the new bridge at that point.

At the meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night this bridge proposition will be given consideration, the matter to be brought up by P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the bridge committee. A. T. Barnes, who was responsible for the putting through of the Hyperion boulevard, it is expected, will also be there to enlighten those present as to the facts of the case.

GLENDALE CREDIT ASSOCIATION IN WEEKLY MEET

Hears Short Change and Bad Check Artists on Way Here

Short change and bad check artists are headed toward Glendale, according to a communication received by the Glendale Credit association from the Credit association of Pasadena, as reported at the luncheon at noon today. The Pasadena organization stated that during the past few days a number of the merchants of that city have suffered losses at the hands of these traveling crooks and on this account that body hastened to warn the merchants of Glendale, through their organization, of the existing condition, believing that this city would probably be the next point of attack.

At the conclusion of the reading of the communication several of the local merchants told of having been cheated in these ways recently and President Owen Emery of the board asked the members of the organization to be on the lookout for fellows of this character.

At this meeting a letter was received from H. L. Leavitt, who had charge of the last morning's exposition in Glendale, desiring to enter into communication with reference to holding another exhibition in this city. This communication was laid on the table.

Various subjects of interest to the merchants in general were discussed at this session, which adjourned at 1:30.

ROADHOUSE IS TO BE ESTABLISHED ON SAN FERNANDO

The northeast corner of Palmer and San Fernando road, which has been known for years as the Brown property, was sold this morning for $35,000, the buyers being William Snyder and H. B. Devine, both of Los Angeles, who will open a high-class roadhouse on the property, changing the spacious home to suit their needs. The size of this corner is 150x175 feet. It is one of the choice pieces of property in the south Glendale section.

The cost of remodeling this property will be about $25,000 and the work will be finished within a month.

Mr. Snyder stated this morning that the place he and his partner will establish will be of the highest class possible. It will not be a jazz palace in any sense, but will be confined exclusively to high class entertainment. Mr. Snyder was the first proprietor of the Bristol cafe in Los Angeles.

The sale was made by Twining & Meyers and W. G. Burton.

LOS ANGELES TO AMEND SEWER CONTRACT? WHY?

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—The city council today took steps to amend the contract with the city of Glendale for the use of the $12,000,000 sewage disposal system, after Boyle Workman, acting mayor, had pointed out that under the present contract it would not be possible for Los Angeles to permit territory annexed later to use the sewer without the consent of Glendale.

It was suggested by Mayor Cryer, according to Workman, that the contract be amended to include the phrase that Los Angeles reserve the right to lay laterals to connect any territory "which is now or may be included within the city limits."

Representatives of Glendale appeared before the council and explained that Glendale agreed to the proposed change and that they were eager to sign the contract. The city attorney said the change should be made to protect the city and was ordered to make it.

WILL BROADCAST USEFUL 'INFO' ON FIRE PREVENTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—"Fire prevention week" throughout the United States and Canada begins today. The entire population of the two countries will be urged to concentrate, during the next six days, upon the problem of decreasing fire loss which last year resulted in the death of 15,000 persons and the destruction of more than $520,000,000 worth of property.

It is estimated, according to the Underwriters' Laboratories, that between 75 and 85 per cent of this enormous waste is preventable by ordinary care, and it is a fact that the waste, in spite of efforts to prevent it, is increasing rather than decreasing year after year. The per capita loss in the United States is approximately $5.00. The per capita loss in Holland is 11 cents. The nearest approach to the huge per capita in America is approximately 75 cents in England and France.

In order to reach the largest possible number of people with an appeal to prevent fires, advantage is being taken of radio transmission. George B. Muldaur, general agent of the Underwriters' Laboratories, has prepared an address which is to be broadcast tonight from 16 different radio stations in this country and Canada. The estimate of the number of people who will hear this message through the air runs as high as 10,000,000. The address reads in part as follows:

"The time to put out a fire is before it starts; in other words, prevention. While the use of improper building material is doubtless the cause of a large proportion of our industrial fire loss, it is certainly true that had housekeeping, both in the home and industrial establishments, permits the starting of an enormous number of fires which could never take place if simple rules of order and neatness were observed.

"How much do you know about the fire hazards existing in your own home? One of the most dangerous things in a house is the common match, because it is apt to be left carelessly about, within the reach of children or where it may be dropped and stepped upon. Matches carelessly thrown away after lighting, are alone accountable for many millions of dollars of fire loss. An electric iron is a most useful implement, but if left alone with the current turned on will almost invariably cause a fire. The same is true of many other electrical devices, excellent in themselves, but a menace when improperly used. Greasy cloths, if thrown together and left for any length of time, will ignite spontaneously. Nothing is more dangerous than to throw such rags and other rubbish into a closet or wooden receptacle. All cleaning cloths and fluids should be kept by themselves away from combustible material. All parts of the house, from attic to cellar, should be kept free from accumulation of any kind of rubbish. A small blaze once started in a rubbish pile makes headway with unexpected rapidity, and it is difficult to approach such a fire when hampered by an accumulation of articles which have no business to be there.

Miss Flora Phyllis Kilpatrick, Courtesy of her manager, Miss Prindell, singing "Rosebud," the principal number of the American Beauty scene, accompanist, Miss Clara Wolter.

Mrs. Florence E. Parker, one of Glendale's leading soloists, teachers and directors, singing "In the Garden of My Heart," with a chorus of forty-five voices; accompanist, Miss Clara Wolter.

The seat sale opened at Gregg's hardware store this morning with a big rush for seats. All seats will be reserved without extra cost.

"Do you know the location of the fire alarm box nearest your house? If not, find out. Do not depend upon the telephone to send in a fire alarm.

"Kerosene lamps, if used, should be kept well away from any inflammable part of the building, and the kerosene itself kept in a metal can outside of the house. It is not necessary to use inflammable cleaning fluids. Ashes should always be kept in metal cans and not allowed to accumulate. Walls and floors should be protected by metal or asbestos covering from stoves and pipes.

"Do not use wooden shingles. Entire cities have been destroyed because the majority of the houses were shingle covered and roofs have been ignited by burning brands carried by the wind for distances of more than a mile. Defective chimneys have caused countless fires. Keep your chimneys clean.

"Carefully inspect all gas and electric connections, and do not use rubber tubes for gas appliances. Buy a few fire extinguishers, and keep them where they can be got at. You will not have to use them often, but when you want them, you want them badly."

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The entertainment and reception given by the local Parent-Teachers' association last Saturday evening was the social event of the past week. The affair was given in honor of the faculty of the local schools and parents of the children in this district. The auditorium stage and patio were most attractive, the Japanese effect being carried out decoratively. A delightful musical program including piano, violin and piano selections was given by Miss Marguerite Hauber, Miss C. Allen, Constance Angier, Henrietta Bulscar and Katherine Reinhart. Apantoma play, "The Lamp Went Out," under the supervision of Miss Ethelene Smith, was a happy feature of the evening's program in which Constance, Betty and Gene Angier, Virginia and Helen Haskins and Elizabeth Martin took a prominent part. The piano and drums during the refreshment hour in the patio concluded a most delightful evening. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blanford, Mr. Blanford being principal of the local schools; Mrs. Ester Eyre, Mrs. Flora Mueller, Miss Sara Conlin, Miss Edith Rhea, Mrs. Rose Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Angier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinhart, Dr. B. H. Smith, Mrs. S. B. Young and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Collins.

Dr. B. H. Smith and daughter, Miss Ethelene Smith of Highland Park, were guests of friends here Saturday and attended the P-T-A reception.

Will Hoase of Chicago and Mrs. Gordon Blackwood, of Glendora, were guests of H. A. Baldrige during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Cookson of West Michigan avenue motored to San Diego for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Murdock and family accompanied by Dorothy Potter spent the week-end at Fern canyon.

Haskins, Mrs. J. S. Martin, Mrs. F. H. Anderson, Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, Mrs. M. S. Collins, Mrs. C. E. Culbertson, Mrs. J. S. Erwin and Mrs. A. W. Brown. Besides being the first meeting of the year, it will be guest day, and a splendid musical program, arranged by Miss Marguerite Hauber will add much to the pleasure of the afternoon. The entertainment committee with Mrs. M. S. Collins, chairman, is planning many enjoyable affairs for this winter.

EAGLE ROCK LAD WINS SENIOR TENNIS HONORS

Finals in the senior and junior tennis tournaments of Glendale Community Service were played off at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the high school grounds and resulted in J. Douglas Baker of Eagle Rock winning the senior championship and Harold Wimmer the junior championship. The trophies were awarded by the Glendale Daily Press.

The senior play-off was at 3:30 with Bob Laird as referee and Mary Barbara Taylor and Jack Thayer as line judges. J. Douglas Baker played against L. E. Fuller of Glendale, winning two sets out of three with a score of 6-4, 6-4. This was followed by the junior play-off, with Bob Stanford and Howard Wimmer playing. This was a very closely contested match. In the first set Howard Wimmer won by a score of 7-5. The next set went to Bob Stanford with a score of 7-5. On account of darkness the third set was called off with the score standing at 4-2, with Wimmer leading. By mutual agreement the two boys played off the third set early Sunday morning. This was won by Howard Wimmer by a score of 7-5. Bob Laird and Francis Haily were the referees for the junior match.

The previous week Mary Barbara Taylor, also of Eagle Rock, won out in the girls' tournament.

Just Chatter

By JOHN J. MULLIGAN

Many years ago, back in school days in old Brooklyn, I had a principal, a kindly, benevolent, fatherly, philosophical old gentleman named Stebbens. "Pop Stebbens" we kids affectionately called him, so you can see what sort of a man he was. Well, anyway, old Pop used to make the rounds occasionally and sit and talk to us in a way that reached our hearts, for he had that happy faculty of reaching a child's level. I guess he never grew up, at that. When Pop entered the door geographically concealed "Diamond Dicks" were happily discarded while we eagerly waited his message. And it was always something worth while. He had been through the Civil war and knew every interesting subject from A to Z, or at least we thought so. And, by golly, we'd sit there for 20 or 30 minutes straight, listening spellbound to old Pop, which was some stunt, considering that teacher couldn't get five.

But anyway old Stebbey had a way of working sugar-coated morals into his talk. And one day he spoke of our classroom door. He said that to some folks it was nothing but a door, but every time he entered or left it, he was reminded of certain men. Upon one side was the word "pull" and the other "push," and he went on to say that a lot of men actually couldn't or wouldn't do anything without "pull," while ambitious, go-getter fellows went right through life pushing their own way. And I guess he was right at that—don't you?

BROADWAY M. E. FOLK CONSECRATE NEW QUARTERS

Sunday proved to be a red-letter day for the Broadway Methodist church, marked by a day of unusual activity. This was the first service held in the building since the new owners secured possession of the church property from the Presbyterians. Sunday school was well attended and six departments were organized under six officers and ten teachers. At the 11 o'clock hour the pastor, Rev. L. J. Millikan, preached a forceful sermon on the command to the church to carry the gospel to every creature, and God's promise to never forsake His faithful followers. The command is just as binding on the church today as it was when first uttered by the Great Conqueror, and the promise just as certain. At the close of the sermon nine new members were enrolled. Mrs. Charles E. Millikan of Los Angeles sang a sweet solo, and Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Myers captivated the audience with a beautiful duet.

At 2:30 there was a meeting of the Sunday School Workers' council conducted by Rev. M. L. Cheek of Pomona, who is the Conference Sunday school organizer for the district. At 6:30 the Epworth League session was held, the chief feature of interest being the installation of its officers, conducted by the pastor. Officers installed were: E. W. Rye, president; Mrs. George F. Newman, vice-president and superintendent first department; Miss Dale Smith, superintendent second department; Miss Maud Bigham, superintendent third department; Donald M. Castlen, superintendent fourth department; Miss Corinne Grose, secretary; Irvin Grose, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Eldens, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. L. J. Millikan, superintendent junior department. Mr. Millikan's address to the new officers was instructive and very impressive.

At the evening service the pastor preached an evangelistic sermon, taking for his theme, David and Goliath. Many from nearby cities were present.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO MEET TUESDAY EVENING

Every business woman in Glendale is being invited to attend the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club to be held Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Glendale Commercial school, 224 South Brand, upstairs, at 6:30 o'clock. It is to be a box supper affair and matters of importance to the club and to business women generally are to be discussed. Every woman interested, whether a member of the club or not is asked to come with her box of luncheon without waiting for a personal invitation.

BUCKEYES CALLED TO FORM SOCIETY

Remember that old song about it being great to meet a friend from your home town? That is exactly the way many of the newcomers to this fastest growing city feel about it and it has been the stimulus for the organization in Glendale of a number of state societies. However, some are finding the list of societies to be incomplete.

C. N. Wilder of 1807 Don Carlos avenue, Verdugo Woodlands, is desirous of all those interested in the organization of a local Ohio Society to communicate with him. He was a former resident of Fremont, Sandusky county, Ohio. There are no doubt a large number of former Ohio residents living in Glendale who will take great pleasure in renewing the acquaintance of former Ohioans and also making new friends.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HUSBANDS INTERESTED

It is anticipated that a number of husbands of Tuesday Afternoon club members will be present at the regular meeting of this organization at the club auditorium on Tuesday, October 9, to hear the talk to be given by Upton Close (Josef W. Hall). Mr. Close will lecture on "The Melodrama of China." He has made a study both from real life and documents of the institutions, political evolution and psychology of the Chinese, and has appeared as speaker at some of the most prominent clubs in the United States. There will be community singing from 1:30 until 2:30. From 2:30 o'clock until 3:00 a short business session will be held, followed by the program. Husbands will be admitted on their wives' visiting cards.

At 2:30 there was a meeting of the Sunday School Workers' council conducted by Rev. M. L. Cheek of Pomona, who is the Conference Sunday school organizer for the district.

At 6:30 the Epworth League session was held, the chief feature of interest being the installation of its officers, conducted by the pastor. Officers installed were: E. W. Rye, president; Mrs. George F. Newman, vice-president and superintendent first department; Miss Dale Smith, superintendent second department; Miss Maud Bigham, superintendent third department; Donald M. Castlen, superintendent fourth department; Miss Corinne Grose, secretary; Irvin Grose, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Eldens, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. L. J. Millikan, superintendent junior department. Mr. Millikan's address to the new officers was instructive and very impressive.

At the evening service the pastor preached an evangelistic sermon, taking for his theme, David and Goliath. Many from nearby cities were present.

The second was given to drills in sight reading and note writing. During the third part, Mrs. Buckham gave a review of the life of Beethoven, which she illustrated with pictures, all of which proved most interesting and instructive. Dainty refreshments were served and the students departed, expressing their great appreciation.

SCHOOL OF MISSIONS OPENS AT CONGREGATIONAL

The First Congregational church of Glendale held the opening session of a School of Missions on Sunday night with eighty present in the four departments—adult, young people's, intermediate and junior. Professor C. M. Hand of Claremont acted as leader in the adult department. The general subject being studied is "Saving America Through the Boys and Girls," and it is expected that even more interest and enthusiasm will be shown in the future sessions, which will be held at 6 p. m. each Sunday for the next five weeks. There are classes for all ages and everyone is welcome.

LYDIAS TO MEET THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Members of the Lydia Bible class of the First Presbyterian church of Glendale will hold their regular monthly business and social meeting on Thursday afternoon, October 11, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. David Johnson, corner of Ocean View and Mira Vista avenues, Montrose. Mrs. Ball, president of the class, who has just recently returned from a several months' absence in the east, will preside.

MARY JONES TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Plans for the winter meetings will be made at the regular meeting of Mary Jones Gillett tent, Daughters of Veterans, to be held Tuesday night, October 9, at the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Mrs. E. B. Moore will preside. A large attendance is desired.

NEVADA, ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO PICNIC

Meet those you have known in either or all these states. You are cordially invited with any of your friends to a joint picnic reunion of the former residents of these three states, all day, Saturday, October 13, 1923, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. There are many who have lived in two or even three of these states and will be pleased to see friends of the old days.

Bring your basket dinners, coffee supplied. County registers for each county in each of three states. There will be an informal program opening about half past two. Here is your part—pass the word to everyone you can who ever lived in either state. Tell them it's to be a jolly time.

Ask your questions of C. H. Parsons, phone 873-511, write or call at the Continental National Bank, Ninth and Main streets, where the registers for all three states may be seen.

ART ASSOCIATION MEETS SUNDAY AT CITY LIBRARY

Glendale's Art association, of which Mrs. Roy Ballagh is president, held its regular afternoon meeting at the city library Sunday at 4 o'clock, and listened to a wonderfully instructive address by Mr. Closkey, the noted painter, on the art of portraiture. He made it clear that a successful portrait calls for more than paint, canvass and skill, and he told of his own practice of discussing with his sitters spiritual and intellectual themes calculated to lift their expressions to high ideals. He also dwelt on the need of art in the home to make life more refined and beautiful.

Mr. Leeksky, a celebrated Russian painter, was present and showed much interest in the work the Glendale organization is attempting to do. In December he will make an address before the association and put on an exhibit of studies he made in Japan.

Announcement was made of the exhibit of work by high school students which is to be made in November and for which entries should be made not later than October 30.

Before and after the address members examined with interest the fine exhibit of work of Glendale artists which will be on display at the library all this month. Every citizen concerned about Glendale's contributions to art should see it and help the club in carrying out its slogan: "American Artists First." As Mrs. Ballagh points out, America leads in portraiture and landscape work, and the products of the artists of today will be the masterpieces of the future.

Jewish Sisterhood Enters Upon Activities

On Friday afternoon the Glendale Jewish Sisterhood entered upon another season of activity and met at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Goodman Phillips, 324 West Colorado street. Many matters of importance were discussed and committees appointed to carry on the work of the Jewish Sunday school. Dr. Schreiber of Los Angeles was present and spoke words of encouragement as to the future of the religious school.

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, who is in charge of the school, assisted by the Misses Clara Parker and Dorothy Ziltzen, are prepared for a much larger attendance this season. The religious school is conducted each Sunday morning in the Odd Fellows hall at 201 West Broadway.

At the business session it was decided to change the meeting day of the Sisterhood from the first Tuesday to the first Friday of each month. Mrs. W. J. Kramer will be the hostess for the November meeting, which will be held at the Egyptian Village Cafe and an interesting program will be announced later.

ELKS TO PLAN PICNIC TONIGHT

At tonight's meeting of the Glendale lodge of Elks detailed plans will be announced for the annual picnic party to be held on Sunday, October 14, at Happyland Park and also for the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the local lodge on October 15. The past exalted rulers and charter members of the club will be the special guests for that evening and there will be special entertainment and speakers.

WEBB'S PROVIDING FASHION SHOW FOR THE WOMEN

Another beautiful fashion show is being provided for Glendale women who desire to know what's what in the world of fashion and incidentally for men who desire to see their wives and daughters attired in the latest creations of the dressmaker's art. It will be presented at Webb's corner of Brand and Wilson, Wednesday, October 10 from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 10 in the evening. Professional living models from Los Angeles will display the beautiful gowns, coats, hats and accessories, music to be furnished by Kelley's Shrine orchestra. The scene of this charming pageant will be the second floor of the establishment. The entire store will be open Wednesday evening for the display of new fall merchandise, but no sales will be made.

Visitors will also be invited to inspect Postoffice Sub-station, No. 3 which is now in operation at the transfer desk in the rear of the store near the shoe department. There letters and packages can be mailed, stamps bought, money orders purchased, and information secured from Mrs. J. Lore who is in charge. It is the only centrally located sub-station in town and is certain to prove a great convenience. In speaking of the matter, Mr. Ludwig, advertising manager, stated it is but one of the initial steps in a program to carry out the slogan of the store, "Service Plus."

COUNTY COUNCIL OF AUXILIARIES OF LEGION MEET

The County Council of American Legion Auxiliaries which usually meets in Los Angeles, was entertained Friday at Monrovia by Unit No. 40 of that city in the very attractive quarters of the local organization and welcomed by its president, Mrs. Lida Spence, who is the new district committee woman. Glendale was represented by its regular delegates, Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, Mrs. Nellie Hyer and Mrs. Eugene Gillelan, who were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Drake, Mrs. Virginia Rowley and Mrs. Charles Nagle.

A fine talk was made by Mrs. Belle Nye of Albuquerque, New Mexico, national historian, who is on her way to the convention in San Francisco. In New Mexico she is known as "Mother Nye" on account of her work for disabled ex-service men. She dwelt on the beneficial effects of the climate there but the absence of flowers that make California so beautiful and of the longing the men have for them. If potted flowering plants could be sent from here to their hospitals they would meet in part that longing, she said. The response of the County Council was immediate and enough money was raised on the spot to supply one of the hospitals for a year.

An inspiring message was delivered by Mrs. Decker, the new state president, and good talks were made by Mrs. Charles Marks and by Mrs. Hurst of Pasadena who is chairman of the welfare work of the county council.

The chief theme of discussion was the Christmas boxes for disabled veterans and what they should contain, it being generally agreed that less candy should be too ill to eat it. Ways and means of raising money to finance the cost of the boxes which will average $3 each was also discussed. It was agreed that tobacco was more popular with the recipients than candy and since most of them have but a short time to live there was no protest against gratifying this desire.

Glendale auxiliary is planning to place boxes in conspicuous places for the reception of small gifts to provide "smokes for the boys."

DOWN IN OKLAHOMA

Governor Walton of Oklahoma has been engaged in a bitter controversy attracting the attention of the whole country. Ostensibly this is between himself and the ku klux klan. The people of the state appear to take sides against the executive. This is a significant fact, but its precise meaning remains to be determined. Either the state as a whole lends its approval to ku kluxism, or the governor is mistaken as to the nature of the forces opposing him.

It is not reasonable to assume that any intelligent electorate could seek to uphold the ku klux klan. It is an organization wholly without warrant in law. It palpably is at variance with the principles of the constitution. It is class rule, by-law, domination by the mob. In its manifestations it has been cowardly. Its heralded patriotism is a pretense since it makes its own code, passes judgment on its victims, and applies penalties named by itself; does all this without the slightest regard for the statutes, or lawful means of enforcement.

If Oklahoma does not favor rule by a sheeted rabble, then it certainly fails to accept as in good faith the asseverations of Governor Walton. It believes that he is setting up a man of straw. The idea that a majority in any commonwealth of the union could be won to ku kluxism cannot be accepted by the intelligence of observers; it must be an error, because it does not seem humanly possible. It is much easier to accept, for the present, the theory that one man, although governor, is mistaken, than that the mass of voters have lost their wits, and gone over en masse to an evil and menacing social monstrosity.

RESPECTING THE DEAD

Information comes from London that the body of King Tut-Ankh-Amen is not to be disturbed. The students of Egyptology who found and explored the tomb have no intention of removing the body that has lain in lonely state there for three thousand years. They will discover by inspection as much as possible concerning the customs of the ancient time, and then the tomb is to be re-sealed. The plan will be generally approved. If it could be counted as proper in the quest of knowledge, to rob the grave, there would be difficulty in determining the lapse of time essential to investing the act with respectability. Grave-robbing has been looked upon as a peculiarly detestable crime. To ravage the sepulchre even of the humble unknown resting in potter's field would be deemed indecent and ghoulish.

Each generation lays its dead away with solemn rite. This is the last tribute it is able to pay. The grave is protected. If thousands of years hence a new civilization should be delving among the traces and relics of the old, either it would show some regard for the tradition that lends sacredness to the grave, or it would be a civilization lacking the fine qualities of the present. To drag the body of the king of former days out of its wrappings, and make an exhibit of it, would be inexcusable.

Two at least of the men engaged in archeological exploration leading to the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, have passed away. This circumstance has given the superstitious an opportunity they have not neglected. Possibly these will now ascribe the considerate treatment of decedent to fear of further demonstration of the wrath of his guardian spirits.

FIXING THE BLAME

It was a notable feature of the investigation of the recent naval wreck that the witnesses did not try to evade responsibility. So far as the landsman could judge, the testimony was all given in absolute frankness. Each witness was ready to tell exactly what he had done. Some of them were under the necessity of stating under oath that they thought the blame rested on the commander of the squadron. They did this with the reluctance prompted by friendship and respect for him, but they did not shirk the duty. The commander himself was more than ready to lift the burden of culpability from the shoulders of subordinates to his own. At the end of the investigation the public is unable to reach any decision, which must await the outcome of courts martial.

The charge came from one witness that congress had been the cause of the tragedy through the niggardliness of its appropriations for upkeep of the navy. The fact will be admitted that congress in this regard has been the reverse of liberal. It has seemed to take delight in whittling down appropriations that naval authorities declared to be absolutely essential. Perhaps the accusation leveled at it will have the effect of making it reasonably generous. The country recognizes the necessity for having a navy, and is ready to support it. The policy of crippling it in any degree does not arise in the public mind, but is formulated in the halls of legislation.

AIDING THE FARMER

President Coolidge is said to have sent two representatives into the wheat belt presumably to find out conditions. There does not appear, however, to be a marked lack of knowledge concerning the predicament in which the farmers find themselves. It has been impossible yet to figure out any artificial method of relief. Certainly the plan of fixing an arbitrary price for wheat could not accomplish the end sought. Were wheat to be doubled in price, it could add nothing to the demand, while every agency that stands between grower and consumer, would make an effort to absorb a part of the increased profit. Moreover, wheat is but one of many commodities yielded by agriculture. For many farmers it is not even the principal crop.

One reason for the present embarrassment of farmers may be discerned by a glance at large areas that there has been an effort to cultivate. The soil is not adapted to farming. Four out of five years there is inadequate moisture. In the northwest are hundreds of abandoned farms that have been given up simply because they could not be made productive. On some of these there has been expended much money and labor, although had the truth been realized, the effort was hopeless from the start, hopeless as the gathering of figs from thistles.

Perhaps some day of the distant future this land may be made productive, but it must be after development of treatment at present unknown or impossible of application. It lacks the elements that sustain growth save as to the native hardy grasses. When these were turned under by the plow good grazing ground was destroyed, and nothing created to take its place.

The fact stands out clearly that farming is not profitable to the farmers, but is profitable to a group engaged in handling the product. This is unfair and unfortunate. Doubtless the solution of the trouble will be brought about, but just how, none seems wise enough to say.

Some men's motto seems to be, "If at first you don't get rich—fail, fail again."

To the world at large it matters very little what you do or what you don't.

The more noise a theory makes when it is exploded the less dangerous it is.

A good fighter manages to lodge a lot of trouble.

JUST DREAMS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

From my point of observation in my mental watch tower it seems to me that the rich get little fun out of life compared to what they might extract.

Most of the rich people I know are bored; many are suspicious and still others sad.

The trouble is that the established ways of spending money give but a limited return in human satisfaction. Travel palls by and by; collecting becomes a bore and ownership is merely ownership after one gets used to it.

So for the last hour I've sat on my front porch looking at an exquisite view and building air castles about what I'd do if I were rich.

I think I'd start by sending able people out to do the things they long to do, but which they can't do because they are chained to the work bench to earn bread.

For example, there is among my friends a man whose water colors hang in some of the great European galleries; but he lost everything in the world upheaval and was later made a prisoner of war in Germany after he had come back from the Far East to fight for his country.

His sense of color is unique and exquisite. Remembering this, I think I would if I were rich send him to the most colorful and picturesque country in all the world, to Syria. I'd have him paint its wild nobles on their Arabian charges caparisoned in such splendor that the processions remind one of an Arabian Nights dream; its savage warriors with their long lances, their flowing white robes, their shields—such as the crusaders used—and the magnificent background of forest, mountain and plain. And I'd address his attention to the caged lions and black eunuchs that guard the gates of castle and palace.

Of course, I'd want letters from time to time relating the daily happenings; and when my artist returned I'd invite the world to come and see the contribution that his skill and my money had made to beauty.

And then my dream turned from the creation of beauty to the education of backward people. Why not, if one had money, send a few humane officers into, say Korea, to conduct a campaign of education that would show the natives the iniquity of beating to death the animals which they slaughter for food?

Could one not get a tremendous kick out of the knowledge that one was daily and hourly reducing needless suffering?

In this dear America of ours, too, there are myriads of splendid chances going to waste. For example, if I had money I'd open a great free school for mothers with a nursery attached where the babies might be cared for while my experts taught the women how to feed their families. Fancy the fun of watching tiny babies grow fat and rosy, of contributing through proper nutrition to the reduction of juvenile delinquency and the steady increase of male efficiency and domestic tranquility.

Of course, there'd be difficulties; but there would also be the thrill of overcoming them; and in all of such efforts there would be the ineffable joy of doing, which surpasses the thrill of seeing and owning as the light of the morning sun surpasses the dimness of a tallow candle.

It costs nothing to dream and nobody ever knows when or where his dream may fire the ambition of some one who can make it come true.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The best man I know lost his wife this week. I think she'll stay lost, too. She says that for months she hasn't been able to look at her husband without a sick realization that she is tied to him for life.

"So he's the best man you know," scoffed Mrs. Pilgrim. "Huh!"

He is. He is hard working, utterly unselfish, brilliant in mind, witty and not bitter, kind and tender. He is a success in business, a success in friendship, he has the esteem of his community and plays handball like a demon.

"If he's so good," demanded my spouse, "why did Mary leave him?"

Because he talked about business to her—and nothing else—when he talked at all. He is interested in his own affairs and made the mistake of assuming that Mary had no affairs that could interest him. Because he sometimes unbelted and unbuttoned after dinner and pulled his hot feet out of his mussy old slippers. Because he often yawned behind the poor affection of a shielding hand. Because he used to get home tired from a day's work and sleep audibly before dinner, although Mary had put on her prettiest and newest dress. He loved—she loves—Mary to the last drop of his blood but he forgot to keep on playing the lover. Matrimony became a commonplace to him too soon.

"Mary will go back," says Mrs. Pilgrim. "She loves him, too."

Maybe. But the best man I know must mend his fireside manner first. I know. I've listened to Mary.

Lincoln said that no state could endure half slave and half free. The Great Teacher said that a house divided against itself could not stand.

Nor can a government divided against itself. One visible. One invisible.

There is no place in the United States for invisible government.

For night riders. For floggers. For whippers. For mobs.

For organizations that take law into their own hands.

There are many times when it seems that swift vengeance should be meted out.

Not swift justice but swift vengeance. For remember that vengeance is not always justice.

Indeed, it seldom is.

Our forefathers were wise in their generation, for they looked forward to the rights of future generations.

And they provided a number of things.

That a man accused of crime was entitled to face his accusers.

That he was entitled to a defense.

And to a trial by jury.

A jury of his peers.

A jury of men taken from the usual walks of life.

Not a jury of judges.

Not a jury of doctors or of lawyers or of preachers.

The constitution makers had read some history. They knew something of the evils that arose from the arbitrary exercise of power.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is natural for men to like to be of impressive weight. There is a prejudice against being skinny, and it is shared in abundantly by people built on the plan of a thinly draped rack of bones. Nevertheless there is comfort for them in the views of insurance companies. These companies declare, on the basis of figures mulled over with assiduous care and skill, that when it comes to living long in the land, the fat chap is not in it with his lean brother. Fatty falls by the wayside, melting as grease in the sun, while his skeleton associate rattles merrily on towards old age.

Many step on the scales, and finding they have gained a pound, smile joyously, whereas if one has lost a pound, he flinches, thinking the hand of the grim reaper is reaching after him. But now they say he's all wrong. Let him be thirty pounds under the average, and it means that he's a good insurance risk.

THE FOREFATHERS OF THE CHURCH LAUDED BY COLE

In his most interesting sermon on the "Forefathers" Sunday morning at Central Christian church, Rev. C. A. Cole made and proved an assertion that astonishes most persons when first they hear it. This was that the Christian church is the largest religious body by far, numbering nearly a million and a half communicants, that originated on American soil. But it is not a new movement, rather a "Restoration" of the original and undefiled New Testament church of the fathers as handed down from generation to generation by obscure mountain folk of Europe.

"When Thomas and Alexander Campbell, originators of the movement, started their protest against the divisive practices of existing religious denominations in America," said the speaker, "they had no thought of founding a distinct religious body, as both were ardent members of one of the great churches of the nation. But when they sought to put into practice the principles they advocated, a creed that should not be man-made but the New Testament itself; a strict adherence to the word of God alone and a 'Thus sayeth the Lord' or an approved precedent for every churchly action, they were forced from their moorings and for a time united with another denomination, that adhered more strictly to New Testament teachings but not wholly. Again their attempts to unite all Christians into one body with a New Testament creed forced them adrift and they saw it was necessary to form a religious body that should have no creed but Christ, who is the church's only head; no rule of faith and practice but the New Testament, no ordinances not in strict accord with Christ's and the disciples' teachings."

"So the new movement was born, a little over 100 years ago, and it spread like a prairie fire under the preaching of the two Campbells, Walter Scott and Barton W. Stone. It charmed by its simplicity, for instead of long-winded man-made creeds it demanded simply faith, a confession of sin, repentance, acknowledgement of Christ as Savior, then a burial by baptism into His death, to arise and walk in newness of life."

"Since the early church established by precedent the observance of the Lord's Supper every first day of the week, and Christ commanded, as Paul distinctly enunciates three times in His epistles, that baptism is immersion only, a burial in water and a resurrection therefrom, even as Christ was buried and rose from the grave, so these two ordinances were declared binding and have been sacredly kept ever since."

"And pastors and evangelists of the Christian church consistently

"The Spoken Word" Dr. Fareed's Theme

Sunday morning at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Dr. Fareed, discussing "The Power of the Spoken Word," stated it has, metaphysically speaking, two parts and deals with great truths. The spoken word has to do with the here and now; what we are to do and what we are to be. When one understands how these laws act on the higher planes, it teaches him to be more guarded of his thoughts as well as the spoken word.

The power of the word is the power of God, and as man is able to comprehend that he is able to demonstrate and manifest on the physical plane, here and now. It was man who gave classification and names to all the various things in the world, and if he had never given expression to other than good things would have been no evil. It has been the misuse of things which has developed evil. When the scales are lifted from our eyes we shall see that all is good. The power of the spoken word was well expressed when the Master said: "Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." As the Christ, a master of all human evolution, He spoke with far greater power than would be possible for many of humanity, but it must not be forgotten that the spoken word is creative, whatever used, and each uses this marvelous weapon for good or ill, according to his own stage of development. "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life," said Jesus, the Christ.

Have a vision that sees and pierces the surface of life. Beware of what is said into the universe. Send out only words of love and helpfulness to the world, then nothing but love and kindness will return to you.

preach and practice these ordinances, and constantly plead for a union of all God's people as one on this Bible platform, the only one all could agree upon, that the world may believe and be converted."

At the evening service 50 colored slides, depicting the journey of Abraham, Friend of God, and Father of the Faithful, from Haran to Canaan, were shown and a short sermon was preached on Abraham's life and influence by the pastor.

"A Marvelous Overture" Rev. Edmonds' Theme

The morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church was in the auditorium of the Glendale theater. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, spoke on the subject—"A Marvelous Overture," and the scripture passage on which the message was based was taken from Rev. 3:20, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock."

Holman Hunt's picture, "The Light of the World" shows a distinguished personage, clad in a royal mantle, waiting outside a walled enclosure in the night. He is knocking at a door over which wild vine and brambles have grown. He is the world's Saviour. He is King and Priest of a purchased people. He is standing, ready to enter.

"The picture in the text is of the church of Laodicea, indifferent to the appeal of the Christ. It represents a sovereign Saviour at the door of a sinner's heart and the door is shut. Pleasure, fame and glory do not wait. The door is always wide open for these, but the world's best friend and Saviour must wait and knock and knock. 'Behold, I stand at the door and knock.'"

"A magazine writer seeks to account for the small percentage in attendance on divine worship in all the churches in New York city on Sabbath morning. He sums it up by saying that 'the insistent push of materialism leaves men's minds unfit for sober, earnest thought. The great crowds are practically godless in a land which acknowledges God and believes in Christ.' Laodicea thought she could be Christian and still cling to her old time idolatries. She was too busy amusing herself to let Christ in when He knocked."

"Why does the Christ knock? Why does He desire to enter? The world needs what He has to offer. Whenever and wherever a door has been opened He has brought blessing. 'But my God shall supply all your need, according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus.' We can no more satisfy soul thirst with morals and mathematics than we can satisfy physical thirst with a cascade of jewels. The world has great needs, but the greatest of these is Christ. Knowing that man cannot live by bread alone He says 'Behold I stand at the door and knock.'"

"O lovely attitude, He stands With melting heart and laden hands."

"He knocks at the door of hope. Take away hope, which is the twin sister of faith, and life becomes barren waste. He offers a joyful hope, purifying hope, a blessed hope. Let Him in."

"He knocks at the door of reason. Christianity invites investigation. 'Come now and let us reason together.' There are excuses on every hand. In youth, we are too young to let Him in. In middle life, we are too busy to let Him in. In old age, it is hardly worth while to let Him in. It can be summed up as in Laodicea of old, indecision."

"Another aspect is of the Master at the heart door of the professed disciple asking for larger room. Laodicea was wilfully preoccupied. She let her hand slip out of God's hand. What a sad confession, she is facing eternity spiritually bankrupt. What a reproach on the cause of Jesus Christ. The glory of the church profession is loyalty to Him."

"We do not crown Him Lord at all. Unless we crown Him Lord of all. 'The appeal is to loyalty—to Christ, to His church, to every call to service. Some never let Him in to the whole life. Some let Him in on Sundays and funeral occasions. O let Him in to rule and reign supreme. The press has told of a great general whose wife was discovered to be a leper. She was about to be deported as her body was wasted with disease, her hands bent and crippled, her face marred and her reason tottering. The general took her in his arms, stroked her hair as when his bride, and covered her face with kisses. 'You may take her away,' he said, 'but if necessary I will go on my hands and knees to find her. I challenge you, O people of God to a love and loyalty like that. He deserves your love. He is entitled to your loyalty. O marvelous overture. Behold I stand at the door and knock, if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him and sup with him, and he with me.'"

Win Pennant Three Times
Straight, Once Consistent Losers

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The New York Yankees, youngest club in the American League, pennant winners this year for the third consecutive time, brought an end to the first major league baseball war when they entered the circuit in the winter of 1902. Their place in the league was made by the forfeiture of the Baltimore Orioles franchise.

Frank J. Farrell, whose finances and enterprise established the American League team in New York, built the first Yankee home in Washington Heights. He placed Clark Griffith, who had achieved success as a manager in Chicago, in charge of an all-star organization selected to represent New York in the junior circuit. A peace agreement was signed between the American and National leagues shortly afterward.

Players whose names are now set down in baseball's corridor of fame wore the first Yankee uniforms. They included Jack Chesbro, Harry Howell, Jesse Tannehill, Jack O'Connor, John Ganzel, Jimmy Williams, Herman Long, Wild Conroy, Willie Keeler, Dave Fultz and Lefty Davis. Within a year Jack Powell, Al Orth, Tom Hughes, Jim McGuire, Kid Elberfeld and Pat Dougherty were added.

Griffith piloted the club until late in the season of 1908 when he resigned in favor of Elberfeld. George Stallings took charge in 1909 and held on until late in 1910 when Hal Chase became manager. Chase was succeeded in 1912 by Harry Wolverton, then came Frank Chance, who led until September, 1914, when he resigned after failing to make a pennant contender of the club. Roger Peckinpaugh finished the 1914 season, the last of the Farrell regime. In 1915 Colonel Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston purchased the club, paying something around half a million dollars for the franchise, players, and other property.

Until this time the Yankees had been "in an outers." Ruppert and Huston immediately began building up with new players. Bill Donovan was employed as manager. His club in three seasons could do no better than fourth, however, and Miller Huggins was placed in charge. Huston and Ruppert continued their generous outlay of money for stars. Babe Ruth, who had won fame as a pitcher and hitter with the Boston Red Sox, came to New York.

With Babe came luck. In 1921 the Yankees won their first pennant. Ruth set a new all-time record for home runs with 59 that year. The Yankees started the world's series impressively but cracked and the Giants won the championship after eight contests. In 1922 the Yankees again won their race but failed to take a game from the Giants in the world's series. They tied one game and lost four.

After their lease on the grounds in Washington Heights expired in 1913 the Yankees shared the use of the Polo Grounds with the Giants for nine years, but after their unusually successful seasons of 1921 and 1922 the Yankee owners decided to build their own park. The Yankee Stadium, greatest baseball plant in the world, was opened to the public this year. After some negotiation Colonel Huston, half owner of the Yankees sold his interest early this year to Colonel Ruppert for about $1,500,000, netting a gross profit of more than $1,000,000 in eight years.

In 1915 the first season under the Ruppert-Huston ownership the Yankees' attendance was 256,000. Since the war the attendance has averaged annually more than 1,000,000.

At a hotel in California the guests who were sitting on the veranda noticed an elk standing composedly on the high trail about 2,000 feet above them. Deer had been scarce enough that season, but elk!

Instantly eight enthusiastic sportsmen seized their rifles and began the ascent. Up to the terrible grade they climbed, with the thermometer at 81 degrees, until they reached the top. As the foremost crept breathlessly toward the trail he caught sight of a man reclining placidly in the shade of a big tree.

"Did—did you see—see which way that elk went?" panted the climber.

The men pointed to where a group of woodcutters were unstrapping a pair of old buck antlers from the head of a mule.

"You see," he said, blandly, "we discovered just now as how we'd run short of matches, so, as it was too hot to go down below, we thought perhaps if we could get some of you fellows up here you might happen to have enough in your pockets to see us through—don't you see?"

An owl has a reputation for wisdom, but a chicken is wiser, for a chicken at least has sense enough to go to sleep at night.

In front of a vacant lot the building put up the usual shack for holding tools and blue prints. On this he tacked a sign intended to refer to the skyscraper being started.

Offices for rent in this fine building.

But he took it down after hearing a passenger remark: "For the land's sake! Look what they're trying to rent offices in now."

When a plain-spoken man announces that he is not going to "mince words," somebody is going to get cut up.

Funeral services for J. B. Whitaker were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Members of Unity Lodge, No. 268, F. & A. Mrs. Whitaker arrived in Glendale Sunday night from Milwaukee, where she had been called by the serious illness of her husband.

Trojans Defeat Pomona Eleven by 23-7 Count

U. S. C. Shows Decided Improvement in Second Game of Season

Before a crowd of 25,000 fans the University of Southern California administered a 23 to 7 defeat to the Pomona Sageshens in the new Exposition Park Coliseum Saturday.

That the Trojans have decidedly improved since their game with Caltech a week ago was easily seen. Both offense and defense looked much smoother, and, altogether, the team shows that there has been plenty of hard work during the past week. The Sageshens put up a fine exhibition of football. They are a trifle inexperienced, however, and had no chance to show much offensive power, for during the first half they did not have the ball outside of their 25-yard line for a second. The Claremont boys will have to be watched, however, by the teams aspiring to the Southern California Conference championship.

Campbell and Newman were the bright and shining lights for the U. S. C. eleven. Campbell ran, plunged the line, circled around the ends, and did everything necessary to make yards.

A touchdown with a perfect kick gave the Cardinal and Golds a 7 to 0 score at the end of the first quarter. Another touchdown, another perfect kick, and a well placed field goal ran the score up to 17 by the end of the half. In the third quarter the Trojans scored again, but failed to convert, bringing the score up to 23. The Sageshens put over their tally in the final period.

That Henderson's reserve strength cannot be relied upon was shown in the second half. An entirely new team went in, and was unable to play the class of football the first string men had been playing. Consequently U. S. C. scored but six points during the half, and the Pomona boys were able to break loose and make a touchdown.

The U. S. C. freshmen defeated Santa Ana High School, 30 to 0, in the preliminary tilt. The line-up:

U. S. C.	POMONA
Phythian	Stafford
Ward	Vernon
Hawkins	Carter
Rice	Mooney (c)
Earl	Tarr
Cummings	Bayham
Dorsey	Frater
Dorsey	Merritt
Riddle	Clark
Newman	Bell
Campbell	McClully

SCORE BY QUARTERS
U. S. C. ..... 7 10 6 0—23
Pomona ..... 0 0 0 7—7

Touchdowns—Dorsey, Riddle, Loustailor, Worden; field goal, Hawkins; goals from touchdowns, Hawkins, 2, Merritt.

SUBSTITUTIONS
For U. S. C.—Otto Anderson for Riddle, Wayman for Campbell, Loustailor for Dorsey, LaFevre for Cummings, Stark for Dorsey, Gerphelde for Phythian, Green for Newman, Adams for Wayman, Wayman for Adams, Russo for Green, Anderson for LaFevre, Hicks for Earl, Russell for Rice.

For Pomona—Worden for Frater, Stone for Merritt, Cowan for Stafford, Merritt for Stone.

BRUIN VARSITY HANDS FRESHMEN 7 TO 0 DEFEAT

Revenge themselves for their near defeat at the hands of the frosh a week ago, Coach Jimmy Cline's Southern Branch footballers handed the peasegreen eleven of the same institution a 7 to 0 licking on Moore Field Saturday.

The Cubs showed wonderful improvement over their performance of a week ago. Especially did their improvement show up in line plunging. Time after time they plowed right through the Frosh line which crumbled before them as they rushed in. At passing and kicking they looked good, but the backfield seemed to have a tendency to fumble the ball in emergencies.

"Tittle" Parisi looked good at the signal barking position, while Loren Peak showed his stuff at full and in his punts. He is gradually recovering his old toe at kicking. Walt Westcott, tackle, got his man every time.

The Cub frosh look good, and so do the varsity, but not good enough to suit Cline, who says that they will have to do a lot of hard work if they expect to beat Whittier in the first conference game October 27.

Sidelights on World's Series

NEW YORK, October 9 (United Press).—Winning the third straight American league pennant for New York proved such an easy job for the Yankees that it rather detracted, or perhaps made less positive, the credit that little Miller Huggins deserves for his success in handling the team.

The Yankees were almost a cinch for the pennant from the beginning of the season. Critics were almost unanimous in picking the champions of 1921 and 1922 to repeat and they more than lived up to expectations and predictions.

Huggins had an important part in guiding the team through a successful season. His task was not so much to get the best out of his fine material as it was to prevent them from doing their worst through over-confidence and an inclination to take things easy.

His work has been under cover and the fans who base their judgment upon superficial evidence find nothing much in the victory of the Yankees that could be construed as a vindication of a capable manager who has never appealed to New Yorkers.

Regardless of the fact that it is something of a feat to win three pennants in succession even with a star team, Huggins gets little credit and his reward is the comment that they should have had the pennant clinched in August and that any manager could win with that kind of a team.

Huggins has never been popular in New York because he did not care enough to set aside his natural inclination to avoid the limelight. Of a retiring disposition off the field, modest and unassuming and, at the same time, impervious to unjust criticism, Huggins has gone quietly about his business and in building up a three-time pennant winner out of a lot of uniformed players he has really accomplished something.

Critics scoff at the crude style of baseball played by the Yankees, in which the socks prevail over the scientific, and they blame Huggins for the dumb game that the club displayed in the last world's series with the Giants.

There is no doubt that the Yankees were stupid and played like saps against the Giants. McGraw, as a manager, was made to look like a champion against a second rate team as old as the game itself; but it must be remembered that McGraw is the smartest manager of all time and that he has material which is mentally capable of supplying the mechanics for his directing genius.

Huggins has done very well with the material at his disposal. He has handled three pennant winners, made money for the club and produced a team that supports the biggest investment in baseball and the finest ball park in the world.

ANGELS DROP TO SALT LAKE IN TWO CONTESTS

Our Angels instead of dropping one game as they have been doing in the last three days, lost two yesterday, the Salt Lake Bees landing very much on top in both struggles, 13 to 4 and 7 to 4. Incidentally the Bees walked off with the series and left Angels with a firm hold on third place, leaving the Angels just one game out of the seventh position.

The second game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of darkness after it has been halted because of a hard shower in the third. Outside of Paul Strand hitting his forty-third home run of the season and the rain, there was not much to rave about for the some 4000 fans who gathered at Washington Park.

YANKS SUPERIOR TO GIANTS IN THE BOX

Huggins' Pitching Staff Much The Better of the Two

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sport Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (United Press).—Giving the New York Giants the full advantage of the doubt, it might be assumed that on the offense and defense of the infield and the outfield the National league champions have at least a small margin of superiority over the Yankee American league pennant winners.

Beyond all doubt, however, insofar as season records may be expected to hold good during the world's series, the pitchers of the Yankees are a vastly superior lot to those of the Giants.

How much more and better pitchers will be a factor in deciding the baseball championship of the world, only the series itself will be able to prove.

Last year the same vaunted strength of the Yankees in the box did not deliver a championship and the Giants, playing real baseball behind comparatively poor pitchers, won the series.

In Sam Jones, Waite Hoyt, Herb Pennock, Joe Bush and Bob Shawkey, the Yankees have perhaps the most formidable staff of pitchers that a baseball club has ever possessed. There may have been better pitchers on other teams in the past and there may be better pitchers now in the major leagues, but there have never been more better pitchers on any club.

Against them the Giants' staff, consisting of Jack Scott, Art Nehf, Mule Watson, Roxy Ryan and Jack Bentley, suffers by comparison.

At his best, each one of the Giant pitchers would be a match for one of the Yankee hurlers, but the weakness of the McGraw staff consists in its lack of consistency.

McGraw can never be certain that he makes a selection that he will not have to make a substitution in the box before the end of an inning. The erratic form shown by the Giant pitchers through two seasons has led "wise cracks" to be made recently that Jones would pitch the opening game of the series for the Yankees and that Scott, Nehf, Ryan and Jondard would pitch for the Giants.

Coming into the series last fall, National league supporters looked with distrust upon the weak pitching staff of the Giants and considered as most ominous the apparent superiority of the American league champions in the box. It was predicted that all the Yankees would have to do would be to toss the glove of one of their star pitchers in the box and the Giants would be beaten.

No such thing happened. The pitchers of both teams pulled unexpected form. The Giant pitchers were like champions and the star Yankee hurlers were complete busts.

The same pre-series conditions exist this year and it is impossible to predict that the same form will not be followed that so completely turned over all calculations last fall.

If anything, the Yankee pitching staff is stronger this year and has more variation.

Sam Jones, who was of little value last season, was one of the best pitchers in the major leagues this year. He has been so skillfully handled that he has maintained his form through the entire season and was most effective at the end of the schedule.

Herb Pennock, the former Boston southpaw, has also had a great season. The Yanks had no left-hander to shoot at the Giants last year, but that was not much of a handicap as the National league champions have never been a mark for southpaws.

Pennock, however, will be a valuable addition to the team.

Waite Hoyt is arriving more and more as he gets older. He has all the mechanical qualifications to become a great pitcher, but it was not until this year that he showed the development of a tendency to think along with his arm. Hoyt is a game kid and an experienced veteran in spite of his years. He may be the star pitcher of the series.

Bob Shawkey is well along in years, but he is a great "money" pitcher where his superlative steadiness makes him a most valuable pitcher in a tight place. Shaw-

THE VALUE OF RESERVE STRENGTH IN FOOTBALL

One of the outstanding contrasts between the University of California eleven and that of the University of Southern California at the present time is the reserve strength of the two institutions. Saturday's game showed that the Bears' reserve strength is of inestimable value to the team while that of the Trojans constitutes a drawback.

In both the big games Saturday the second string men went in at the opening of the second half. The California boys prevented the Santa Clara eleven from scoring, and rung up 14 points themselves, while playing a purely defensive game. The U. S. C. subs scored but six points, and allowed the Sageshens seven.

It was the same in both the games a week ago. California showed that her subs were right there with the goods and ran up a big score against St. Mary's, while the Trojans second string men failed to register markers, and allowed the Caltech eleven to score.

Reserve strength constitutes a mighty factor in winning football games, especially in the tight places. Andy Smith has proved it in the past three years. If his regulars can't turn the trick he sends in his subs. If they can't do it he sends in more subs. Then the task is usually accomplished. Fresh players are able to do what those who have played the entire game cannot do.

Another part played by the reserves is in developing men for future teams. Where did the California variety of 1923 come from? From the subs of the 1922 and 1921 teams. When all the stars of the 1923 team have gone Andy can call on the present reserve squad for his varsity men. Here is the big value of reserves.

HOW THE CONFERENCE TEAMS SHOWED UP
That Pomona is not so weak as was expected was shown Saturday. Few expected that the Blue and White would score on the Trojans. The Sageshens look good in spite of their greenness and lack of opportunity to show a real offense. When they got away in the last quarter they showed up well. Two natted them fifty yards and a touchdown, and they had the ball on the U. S. C. yard line when the whistle blew. The Sageshens don't look like pennant winners at present, but will cause a lot of trouble for some of the conference teams.

Redlands does not look so good, in spite of the 33 to 0 victory the Bulldogs scored over the Riverside Junior College eleven. The Riverside team is extremely weak and limited to first and second year men. The Baptists fumbled the ball continually, and gained most of their yardage because they did not have much opposition. Those who predict a championship team for Redlands this year will have to bring on some mighty great improvements if their predictions will be fulfilled.

The defeat of Caltech at the hands of the U. S. C. California cannot have any bearing on the position of the Engineers' team. The Technicians were outwitted, and played minus two of their best stars. They did not go in to win, but merely for practice. Two former Annapolis luminaries played against them.

Southern Branch Cubs showed a decided improvement in their defeat of the Freshmen Saturday by a 6 to 0 score, but will have to do a good deal better if they expect to be in the front of the conference race.

RAIN ROBS LOCAL TEAM OF VICTORY
The Glendale Athletics were robbed of a victory yesterday when their game with the Mitico Japanese baseballers was called in the sixth inning on account of rain. One inning was played in a drenching downpour, and the fans, seeking shelter, protested when the game was called. The locals were leading by a 6 to 5 score.

OCCIDENTAL WINS FROM SAN DIEGO STATE COLLEGE

Tigers Hang Up 33 to 7 Victory Over Southern Team

By LESTER GRAFIOUS
(Daily Press Sport Correspondent)

Occidental College romped away to an easy victory over the State Teachers' College at San Diego Saturday in the first tilt of the season. The final score was 33 to 7. Both teams showed brilliant playing in the first few moments of the game, and when Hancock of the San Diego aggregation ran 85 yards to the Tiger's 5-yard line, the spectators went wild.

With Captain Spangler, Argus, Ridderhoff and Ebers playing spectacular football, the Orange and Black put up a wonderful game. Hancock of the opposing team, showed up exceptionally well. He was the whole San Diego team, and would undoubtedly make a berth on any eleven in the west.

Argus of Occidental suffered a sprained wrist, and was knocked out in the third quarter. His wrist results at the present writing is still bothering him considerably, but he hopes to be able to start the Redlands game next Saturday.

"Timber Wolf" Pipal, Oxy mentor, put in a whole flock of substitute in the final period. They showed up exceptionally well, and it looks as though Occidental has plenty of reserve strength. If the results of the game count for anything, as they surely must, the "Princeton of the West," as the Tiger institution is sometimes called, should have the fastest team in the Southern California conference this season. Coach Kerr used his entire second team toward the end of both first and second periods.

The University of Redlands opened the football season Saturday afternoon with a 33 to 0 victory over the lighter Riverside Junior College eleven at Redlands.

Several combinations were tried by Coach Cushman, his second string men being in the game for the second and third quarters. Redlands played a steady game, making few fumbles, gaining consistently through the line, but completing few forwards. Riverside showed a classy team, Castle and Kilgore playing particularly speedy game, the former at full and the latter at left end.

GOLDEN BEAR IS VICTORIOUS BY 48 TO 0 SCORE

California Crushes Santa Clara in Demonstration of Defensive Game

Burying Santa Clara under a 48 to 0 score, the University of California gave a very definite idea of what constitutes defensive football. The game was played Saturday at Berkeley, and showed clearly the stress that Andy Smith has placed on defense during the past week.

The Santa Clara lads actually lost more yards than they gained from scrimmage, and at no time except during the closing minutes of the game did they look like a real football team. The only thing that kept the score down was the fact that California was playing for a development of her defensive game.

One of the finds of the season seems to be Tut Imlay, a sophomore, who played quarter Saturday. He is fast and brainy, and ran the team well. In addition he pulled off several spectacular runs.

Andy shot in a number of his second string men during the second half. They showed up well, but not as good as the regulars. It was the regulars who did most of the scoring. The substitutions had something to do with the fact that the score was not around 60 points. At any rate, however, California has substitutes who can be relied upon in an emergency. The line-up at the opening of the game was as follows:

SAILORS DEFEAT CALIFORNIA TECH FOOTBALL SQUAD

Caltech dropped Saturday's game of football to the U. S. S. California eleven by the score of 7 to 0 at Tournament Park. A large crowd, including several hundred sailors from the Pacific fleet, witnessed the encounter.

Caltech played minus the services of her two star performers, Moyses and Groat, which may explain the result of the contest. Coach Stanton considered the game merely a practice for the opening with Whittier next Saturday and determined to lose the game rather than risk the injury of his two stellar players.

Kantay was the star of the Sallors' eleven. He carried the ball time after time for yards, around the ends and through the line. Three former Annapolis stars, Soucek, Bell and Smith, played on the California team. The Engineers were outwitted by the sailors.

DR. GEO. VINCENT WILL SPEAK ON CHILD HEALTH

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation and of International prominence as an authority on sociology, will be one of the noted speakers at the first annual meeting of the American Child Health association, to be held in Detroit from October 15 to 17, inclusive.

At a public meeting on the evening of the conference's first day, Dr. Vincent, Herbert Hoover, president of the American Child Health association, and Mayor Frank E. Doremus of Detroit will make addresses in which they will discuss the association's effort on behalf of the boys and girls of the nation.

Dr. Vincent, former dean of the faculties of arts, literature and science, at the University of Chicago, and, until his affiliation with the Rockefeller Foundation in 1917, president of the University of Minnesota, is one of America's foremost students of sociological problems. He is a member of the General Education board and formerly was president of the American Sociological society. He is the author of "Social Mind and Education" and "An Introduction to the Study of Society." The latter volume was written in collaboration with Alton Woodbury Samuels.

More than six hundred delegates, representing all sections of the United States and some foreign countries, will attend the conference of the American Child Health association. The organization was formed last winter by the merging of the American Child Hygiene association and the Child Health Organization of America.

All phases of child health activities will be discussed by the authorities who are to speak at the conference, from the pre-natal through the pre-school and school ages.

The association maintains administrative offices at 370 Seventh avenue, New York city, and national headquarters at 532 Seventeenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

BUILDING PERMITS

Glendale building permits for October went soaring over the $200,000 mark at 9 o'clock this morning. The exact amount was $10,505 over this figure. The permits for the year have reached the grand total of $75,526,485.

The encouraging feature of the permits that have been issued this month is that practically all of them are for homes. As a general rule these homes are being constructed by or for those who are going to occupy them.

The employees of the building department expect October to be a "bumper" month, with a large percentage of the permits issued for dwellings.

Following are the building permits issued in Glendale up to noon today:

Dr. C. A. Webb, 1229 East Colorado, garage, 3	150
D. A. Robertson, 330 McHenry, 2 rooms	1,000
Arthur C. Burdell, 112 East Harvard, garage, B. B. Atwood, contractor	100
A. W. Dorchester, 114 Thompson, dwelling	600
B. J. Sheldon, 1160 Justin, addition, W. Shimmell, contractor	800
Bacon & P. A. Bates, 1149 Alameda, 2 rooms	1,000
A. W. McWhorter, 2100 Glenwood road, 3 rooms	1,800

LEGION NEWS

Plans for the American Legion National convention, to be held at San Francisco, October 15 to 19, were announced at the regular meeting of Glendale post No. 127, held Friday night at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Although the posts will not be represented individually at the convention, there will be about twenty-five or thirty going from Glendale. Half-price may be secured by Legionnaires who hold an identification certificate that may be obtained from Commander Chalmers Day or Ivan Crocker, local chairman of the convention committee.

Announcement was made of the first of the series of dancing parties given by the Legion to be held tonight, Saturday, at the Legion hall, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Black and Tan five-piece orchestra.

Among the visitors present at Friday's meeting were two sporting writers from a Los Angeles newspaper, who were present for information regarding the securing of a baseball field in Glendale, in order to bring some "big league" teams here to train. There will be a meeting Monday noon to secure further details.

Next Friday night the Glendale post will hold a short open house meeting and then proceed to Eagle Rock to attend a show to be put on by the Eagle Rock post.

Another social success was registered by the Glendale post of the American Legion and its affiliated auxiliaries in the dance given Saturday night at Legion hall, attended by 150 or more trippers of the light fantastic. Wonderful punch was served between dances by a committee headed by Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer and Mrs. Fish.

The boys at Sawtelle too ill for such diversions were not forgotten and during the evening two beautiful head chains made by ex-service men there were raffled off and the proceeds will be sent them by the auxiliary. One of these beautiful pieces of handiwork was won by Miss Rose Fenster, the other by Mrs. Nelson Dick.

Seductive music was provided by a colored jazz orchestra and from every viewpoint the affair was a success.

According to Mrs. Nellie Hyer Snow of the auxiliary of the Glendale post of the American Legion, ex-soldiers are constantly being admitted to the hospital at Sawtelle who are destitute of everything except the garments they are wearing. With the approach of winter, warm underwear, suits and coats are greatly needed and she is appealing to the men of Glendale for clothing for these men. It can be left, she says, at the home of Mrs. Margaret Keading, Central and Salem, or at her own home, 111 North Louise.

General Hunter Liggett and his committee aids, moving into their new headquarters in the Civic auditorium received numerous mail requests asking that marchers in the huge military parade of the convention October 16, be allowed to appear in "native costume."

Thus, the Kansas men and women will don flour sack uniforms, to be retailed at State headquarters here at 25 cents each. The Georgia aggregation will wear emblematic peaches, and will distribute 100,000 handbooks of information regarding the merits of the region south of the Mason-Dixon line.

California—15,000 strong—will march in 49'er costumes.

FREE LECTURE ON AUTO HEADLIGHTS

A free lecture on "automobile headlights" will be given in the city hall at 8 o'clock tonight, the affair being given under the auspices of the police department by Frank A. Pin, of the International Engineering Illuminating company. It will be given for garage owners, service station men, motor officers and the general public. Those who hear this lecture will be able to tell at a glance whether or not their lights are adjusted properly, it is declared.

San Francisco, Oct. 8.—How to care for from 250,000 to 500,000 orphans of the World War is the problem the American Legion will consider at its national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19.

Tentative plans for this project, which experts believe will be as difficult as that of relief for disabled veterans were considered at a recent meeting of the Legion's war orphans committee in Indianapolis. While definite statistics are not available, it is estimated that the greatest number who must receive assistance of some kind from municipalities, counties, states, the federal government or the Legion will be 500,000 children.

The committee will recommend the building of a number of national homes in various parts of the country for dependent children of Legion members and service men not members of the Legion who died before May 1, 1919.

In addition to the national homes a supplementary system will be inaugurated whereby dependent children can be placed with foster parents, after careful investigation. The welfare of the children will be guarded by local legion posts after they have been placed in private homes, according to the committee.

The committee will ask the national gathering for authority to accept gifts of suitable buildings, money and sites. A number of offers have already been made to the legion of land and money. Among them is 383 acres of land and $135,000 offered by Dan Dabney of Independence, Kan., and the Kansas department of the Legion. Another offer has come from George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, former national vice commander of the Legion, who has asked the organization to accept 200 acres of Tennessee land, valued at $20,000.

The committee's decision was reached after it had heard the testimony of many experts in child welfare and the care of orphans, including C. W. Arson, New York, director of the Child Welfare League of America, William P. McLean, superintendent of the Boys' industrial school at Topeka, Kan., A. N. Farmer, Des Moines, who has conducted a survey of orphans for the Brotherhood of American Yeoman; Dr. Frederick A. Perry, of Adrian, Mich., superintendent of the American legion's children's bills of Michigan; and Luther Short, superintendent of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

San Francisco, Oct. 8.—The ex-service man has returned to the soil. State delegations to the American Legion Fifth Annual National convention here October 15 to 19, will wear uniforms emblematic of the localities they represent.

San Francisco, Oct. 8.—How to care for from 250,000 to 500,000 orphans of the World War is the problem the American Legion will consider at its national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19.

Tentative plans for this project, which experts believe will be as difficult as that of relief for disabled veterans were considered at a recent meeting of the Legion's war orphans committee in Indianapolis. While definite statistics are not available, it is estimated that the greatest number who must receive assistance of some kind from municipalities, counties, states, the federal government or the Legion will be 500,000 children.

The committee will recommend the building of a number of national homes in various parts of the country for dependent children of Legion members and service men not members of the Legion who died before May 1, 1919.

In addition to the national homes a supplementary system will be inaugurated whereby dependent children can be placed with foster parents, after careful investigation. The welfare of the children will be guarded by local legion posts after they have been placed in private homes, according to the committee.

The committee will ask the national gathering for authority to accept gifts of suitable buildings, money and sites. A number of offers have already been made to the legion of land and money. Among them is 383 acres of land and $135,000 offered by Dan Dabney of Independence, Kan., and the Kansas department of the Legion. Another offer has come from George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, former national vice commander of the Legion, who has asked the organization to accept 200 acres of Tennessee land, valued at $20,000.

The committee's decision was reached after it had heard the testimony of many experts in child welfare and the care of orphans, including C. W. Arson, New York, director of the Child Welfare League of America, William P. McLean, superintendent of the Boys' industrial school at Topeka, Kan., A. N. Farmer, Des Moines, who has conducted a survey of orphans for the Brotherhood of American Yeoman; Dr. Frederick A. Perry, of Adrian, Mich., superintendent of the American legion's children's bills of Michigan; and Luther Short, superintendent of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

San Francisco, Oct. 8.—The ex-service man has returned to the soil. State delegations to the American Legion Fifth Annual National convention here October 15 to 19, will wear uniforms emblematic of the localities they represent.

General Hunter Liggett and his committee aids, moving into their new headquarters in the Civic auditorium received numerous mail requests asking that marchers in the huge military parade of the convention October 16, be allowed to appear in "native costume."

Thus, the Kansas men and women will don flour sack uniforms, to be retailed at State headquarters here at 25 cents each. The Georgia aggregation will wear emblematic peaches, and will distribute 100,000 handbooks of information regarding the merits of the region south of the Mason-Dixon line.

California—15,000 strong—will march in 49'er costumes.

went attendance records AGAIN at the T. D. & L. Yes, we expected it for we knew Glendale was waiting anxiously, TENSELY, for this gorgeous production. Our only regret is that, with all our buying power and choice of the market, we are unable to hold the film longer than today and tomorrow. Locked bookings prevent it. Our apologies to the hundreds who were turned away yesterday—if you were among them won't you try again today? We want you to see the picture for WE KNOW YOU'LL ENJOY IT TO THE UTMOST!

A CIVIL QUESTION

The bishop was waiting for his train in an out-of-the-way village. He saw a stranger eyeing him askance.

Fearing he might be cutting a slight acquaintance the bishop nodded to the man.

"Excuse me, mister," said the man, "but I think I've seen your picture in the paper."

"Very probably," answered the bishop.

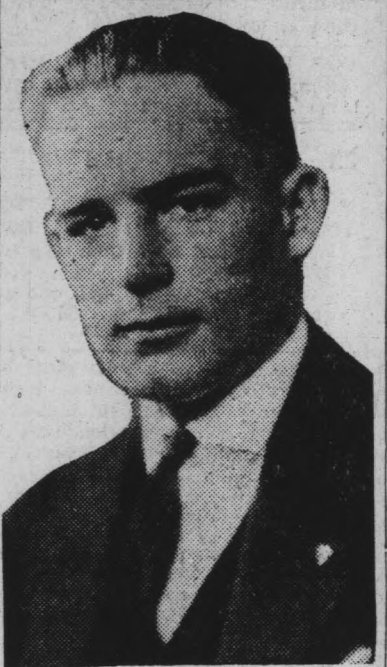

"Can I ask," the stranger inquired, respectfully, "what you were cured of?"—Montreal Gazette

HUGE CIRCUS IS AWAITING BOYS AND GIRLS

Humpty Dumpty Fun Producers to Be Here on October 20th

Ray L. Law is the originator and producer of the famous Humpty Dumpty circuses and will be on hand to personally supervise the big children's fun producer and promises the kiddies the biggest time of their lives.

Circus headquarters have been

opened next door to the Daily Press and every boy and girl who wishes to take part in a real circus should make application at once to the circus manager at the circus headquarters.

Many new and novel surprises are in store for the children of Glendale and everyone is advised to watch the columns of this paper closely so as not to miss the many events.

"Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall. Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. And all the king's horses, And all the king's men Couldn't put Humpty together again."

More fun than the proverbial box of monkeys awaits hundreds of children of Glendale on October 20, when a mammoth Humpty Dumpty circus will be held in Glendale under the auspices of this paper. Arrangements for the big, sugar-plum treat for the young folk now are under way and are moving along rapidly.

NEW FILM STAR, RENE ADOREE, AT THE GLENDALE

The new Metro picture, "The Eternal Struggle," appearing now on the screen at the Glendale Theater. A new screen luminary, Renee Adoree, will flash before movie fans. Miss Adoree is a member of a distinguished cast but it is certain her work in this picture will win stellar honors for her.

Miss Adoree is the "23-year-old wife of Tom Moore, the screen star."

Many of the thrilling scenes of "The Eternal Struggle" were filmed in northwest Canada. Miss Adoree narrowly escaped death twice—once when caught in the path of the snowslide near Banff, Alberta; and again when her canoe overturned in the treacherous Seymour Rapids.

Miss Adoree plays the part of Andree, a French Canadian. She herself is French born and spent her childhood in France and England. She was a member of the first troupe of refugees which fled from northern France when the Germans entered in 1914.

"The Eternal Struggle" is based upon G. B. Lancaster's novel, "The Law-Bringers," adapted to the screen by J. G. Hawks and Monte M. Katterjohn. It is presented by Louis B. Mayer. Percy Hilburn was the cameraman.

NEBRASKANS WILL OPEN MONTHLY SOCIALS

Hon. E. H. Hinshaw, president of the Nebraska State society is announcing the re-opening of the monthly social reunions of that organization, Wednesday evening, October 10, in Music Art hall at 233 South Broadway. A popular program will feature this first meeting and dancing will follow. All Nebraskans are invited to meet the old friends again.

"Merry-Go-Round" at T. D. & L., Story of Ill-Starred Love

Can a high-born youth, a count who is the emperor's right hand aide in a strict imperial government, love a peasant girl? The answer is—"only in fairy tales." That is, they can love, but until the difference in their social positions is destroyed and they are brought to the same plane, there is no chance of happiness for them. "Merry-Go-Round," the greatly heralded Universal Super Jewel photoplay, now showing at the T. D. & L. Theater, tells the story of two who loved like this. Norman Kerry and Mary Philbin have the romantic roles.

"RUGGLES OF RED GAP" IS FEATURE OF THE GATEWAY

Another of the thrilling features for which the Gateway Theater is becoming noted is "Ruggles of Red Gap," which began its showings Sunday. Today many who failed to gain admission to yesterday's performances will have another chance to see this red-blooded film story, dramatized from Harry Leon Wilson's famous story of the same name that was such a sensation when it was published. James Cruze, who directed "The Covered Wagon," has put into this classic the same delicious western comedy, and sweep of action.
